

A grayscale map of South America showing national borders. A small black rectangular box is drawn over the northern part of the continent, specifically over Ecuador, to indicate the study area.

